

Cloud Development & Security

Successfully migrating a managed service infrastructure actualizes in reduced costs, increased efficiencies, endless expansion, and continuous innovation opportunities.

For 14 years, Fusion Technology has supported and managed mission-critical cloud migration projects and employed various security systems and applications as well as integrated security tools and software to predict, track, protect, and secure Federal systems from emerging threats.

Cloud services allow our customers to leverage resources that are close to the user and extend their reach. With limitless expansion possibilities and secure hosting capabilities for on- and off-premise data storage and management, cloud services ensure our customers are never bound by rigid hosting capabilities.

Fusion Technology leverages 14 years of Federal cloud development, successfully migrating, securing, and enhancing our customers' existing cloud services. Integrating single sign-on features provides our customers the additional peace of mind that comes from immediate, controlled, and secure user access that can be tiered to varying Security Clearance levels and need-to-know bases.

As leaders in DevSecOps

and cloud integration and management, Fusion Technology has the vision and experience to create secure solutions.
