

Enterprise Search

Comparable to web searching engines, enterprise search functions put the power of data directly in your hands. With the ability to include nearly endless searching capabilities, inputting full documents, keywords, geospatial tags, and other search commands, Fusion Technology can integrate enterprise searching capabilities to realize custom queries of our customers' enterprise database.

After Fusion Technology incorporates complex algorithms and proven strategies into enterprise architectures, our customers' users can perform deep-dive searches and analyses on multiple datasets. Fusion Technology actualizes search and retrieval functions throughout our customers' enterprises and manages the integration services throughout the project lifecycle to secure the structuring and storage of large datasets and the query structuring needed to bring back focused results.

Fusion Technology staff are responsible for the architecture and support of the enterprise search capabilities of one of the largest collections of record sets within the FBI. This solution consists of over 270 servers searching over 400 million documents.
